Dear Colleagues,

Jane Bruce is leaving Dayspring.

The Board of Trustees of the Dayspring Trust wish to share the news that sadly our CEO, Jane Bruce, will be leaving us on the 27 July 2018.

After 22 years of service, Jane leaves Dayspring in good shape, having established a competent team, that delivers excellent services to families in our community.

Jane leaves Dayspring in good heart to pursue new opportunities.

In the interim:

The Board are currently in the process of recruiting a new CEO.

As an interim measure to ensure continuity of services, and confidence for our partners and stakeholders, we welcome Diane Tuari, who will lead the service until a new CEO is appointed.

Diane Tuari has a working background in senior management, having been the CEO of NNR (Nga Ngaru Rautahi - National urban authority), deputy CEO for Waipareira Trust (West Auckland) for 5 years and previous to that, a senior advisor with NZ employment services and Ministry of Social Development.

The Board thanks Jane for her long service and leadership of Dayspring, and wish her the very best for her future.
